Seyla Benhabib
Eugene Meyer Professor of Political Science and Philosophy
Yale University

Borders, Refugees and Weak States: Reflections on the Current Turmoil in the Middle East

Seyla Benhabib, born in Istanbul, Turkey, is the Eugene Meyer Professor of Political Science and Philosophy at Yale University and was Director of its Program in Ethics, Politics and Economics from 2002 to 2008. Professor Benhabib is the recipient of the Ernst Bloch prize for 2009 (one of Germany’s most prestigious philosophical prizes) and of the Leopold Lucas Prize from the Theological Faculty of the University of Tubingen for 2012. She is author of more than ten books, and her work has been translated into German, Spanish, French, Italian, Turkish, Swedish, Russian, Serbo-Croatian, Hebrew, Japanese and Chinese. Her most recent books include Another Cosmopolitanism: Hospitality, Sovereignty and Democratic Iterations, Dignity in Adversity: Human Rights in Troubled Times ; Equality and Difference: Human Dignity and Popular Sovereignty in the Mirror of Political Modernity.

Wednesday, October 21, 2015
4:30 – 6:00pm
Maxwell Auditorium

Moynihan Institute of Global Affairs